Lots of fun. The Freshman dance Saturday night, for example. Only thing wrong with it, according to one of the Sophomore stags, was that there were too many frosh present.

This is the season of fraternity initiations. The old traditions of paddles, clothing hindsides before, etc., are carried on, as they have been carried on since the memory of man runneth not to the contrary. More than one initiate finds himself twenty miles from Washington at two o'clock in the morning, painted up with one thing and another, and dog-tired.

According to Cherry Tree highlights, one hundred and fifty votes at ten cents per each will be the minimum required for election of one of the most popular co-eds. If enough men can be found to put out ten cents for the sake of glorifying their "secret crush," no doubt some four girls will be made very happy. Just think, you can elect a "most popular co-ed" for fifteen dollars!

The Interfraternity Council throws a monkey wrench into the machinery by announcing that its free dance this evening in Corcoran Hall requires a tax. Therefore some of the fraternities will be only present in half-strength.

Prize for the best yarn of the week goes to the lad who told of one of the antics of a member of the 306th Cavalry, that noble arm of the nation's defense, of which we spoke last week. It seems that this bird got on a horse that was trained in the intricacies of monkey drill. The budding cavalryman, instead of lightly touching the horse with the spur to make him move faster, kicked him. Now that was a signal for Man's Noblest Friend, who immediately got down on his hind-quarters. The G. W. student was sore amazed, and kicked Spark Plug in the shoulder, which happened to be another signal, and the horse crossed his front legs, and so far as the rider knew, was preparing to take a nice long rest. Then the officer who had trained the horse rushed over, got the amazed cavalryman off the horse, and in soothing tones said to his little pet, "There, there, dear, it's all right. It won't happen again."

George Washington's birthday comes around again, a large day for the University which bears his name. It suggests a number of things. Cherry Trees, Hatchets, "Father I Cannot Tell a Lie," the clause in his will which left the stock in the old Patowmack Canal Company to found a University, and the many things he did for his country. As one of the unassuming songs, which someone tried to get us to sing once at a Roll Call, goes:

"Primus in pace,
Primus in bello,
Et in cordibus civium . . ."
Which may or may not have anything to do with the price of putty in Patagonia.

Coach Crum is retained with a nice contract. The Interfraternity Council, G. W. Club, and other organizations which sought to retain him, may now pat themselves on the back. However, it is our shrewd guess that a series of rather successful football games in 1927 had more to do with it than any amount of propaganda. Our heart goes out to Crum, because of the stiff schedule of next year, but our knees are weak.

We are duly intrigued by the latest thing which men are wearing with tuxedos. This is a wide black sash, which is worn with a fold in the middle, and takes the place of a vest. The fold in this sash is quite ample, and will hold anything from cabbages to kings, including bottles—but shh! This is not a university in the State of Virginia.

Speaking of the State of Virginia, an editorial in a Hatchet of last year comes to mind. This had to do with the exclusion of negroes from a conference of southern university students. This editorial classified George Washington as a southern university. An interesting question. This city is geographically in the south, beyond a doubt; but whether it is southern in spirit is entirely another matter. With so many students from the north and west, the ladies and gentlemen who drop their R's are rather in a minority.

There is one possible explanation for this, namely, that the Republican administration which has prevailed since 1920 has brought in people from nearly every place in the country but south of the Mason-Dixon line.

And yet people who stay here for some time get to feeling as though they were southerners. They speak feelingly and sympathetically of the phenomenal progress of the State of North Carolina, and of the football teams at V. M. I., Virginia, Washington and Lee, and V. P. I. They forget that they came from Kankakee. And it is to be noticed that the people who come from considerably north of here most assiduously cultivate a "southern" accent.

HOSPITAL BALL IS BRIGHT EVENT OF SOCIAL CALENDAR

Official, Social and Diplomatic Washington Attends "Garden Party on the Potomac"

FOURTH ANNUAL BENEFIT SCORES GREAT SUCCESS

Board of Lady Managers Receiving Congratulations on Entertainment Staged for Hospital Aid

By MAUDE O'FLAHERTY

Official, social and diplomatic Washington contributed to the success of the George Washington University Hospital Ball held last night at the Mayflower.

The ball, which was given under the direction of the Board of Lady Managers of the Hospital was in the form of "A Garden Party on the Potomac in Honor of General and Mrs. Washington." A program written especially for the occasion by Mrs. Walter Tuckerman was presented. Dancing was from 11 to 12, and supper was served at 12.

Mrs. Calvin Coolidge headed the list of patronesses which included Mrs. Charles G. Dawes, Lady Isabella Howard, Madame Pueyrredon, Señora Dona Tellez, Noble Donna DeMarini, Madame Matsudaira, Madame Claudel, Her Highness, Princess de Ligne, Madame Peter, Madame Sze, Mrs. Vincent Massey, Madame Bache, Mrs. Dwight Davis, Mrs. Harry S. New, Mrs. Curtis Wilbur, Mrs. William Jardine, Mrs. William Howard Taft, Mrs. Edwin F. Sanford, Mrs. Louis Brandeis, Mrs. Harlan Fiske Stone, Mrs. Heriam Bingham, Mrs. Everett Sanders, Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, Mrs. Proctor Dougherty, Mrs. Sidney Tallaferro, Mrs. William B. Ladd, Mrs. John C. Merriam, Mrs. David A. Robertson, Mrs. U. S. Grant, 3d.

Floor Committee

The floor committee was headed by Mr. Gilbert Grosvenor, Chairman, and Mr. Walter R. Tuckerman, Vice Chairman. Others serving were: Mr. Charles J. Bell, Dr. William Cline Borden, Mr. Frederick H. Brooke, Mr. Edward L. Bullock, Jr., Mr. N. L. Burchell, Mr. Walter C. Clephane, Mr. Carl A. Droop, Mr. Henry Grat.

BOARD IS CHOSEN FOR 1929 MUSICAL SHOW

James Fleck Is Managing Director, Bill Jemison, Musical Director; Julia Denning, Dancing

The Troubadour Board of Directors for 1928-29 was chosen recently at the home of Professor Bolwell when he entertained the members of the Production Staff and the Cast of "Sharps and Flats."

The board is as follows: Managing Director, James Fleck; Musical Director, Bill Jemison; Dancing Director, Julia Denning; Stage Manager, Pern Henninger; Costume Manager, Margaret Hoover; Property Manager, Marion Campbell; Business Manager, Edward Moulton; Publicity Manager, Kenneth Yearns; Electrician, Steve Blackman.

The Advertising Manager has not been chosen. These people have shown in their previous work on the Troubadour Productions that they are competent to assume the responsibility for next year's show.

HOSPITAL CONCERT IS POSTPONED BY SINGERS

Girls' Glee Club to Sing on February 28

The concert which the Girls' Glee Club was to give at the Naval Hospital on February 20, has been postponed until February 28. Besides working on the music for this concert, the club is preparing for the Federation of Music Clubs festival to be held in May.

High sopranos are needed. Any girl who wishes to try out for such a part should see Miss Wentworth at the regular meeting held on Monday at 12 o'clock, in Corcoran Hall 1.

OFFICERS ELECTED FOR HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

Officers were elected at the first meeting of the Home Economics club held on Thursday, 16th, in the Home Economics building. They are: Helen Jones, president; Mary Hoskins, vice president; Jane Prentiss, secretary, and Evelyn Esch, treasurer.

A constitution presented by a committee previously appointed was adopted. The club was organized in the interest of Home Economics and anyone taking any courses under this heading is eligible for membership.

The meetings are to be held the first and third Tuesday of every month in the Home Economics building. One is to be a social meeting held at eight, while the other is to be a business meeting held at seven o'clock, for which prominent speakers will be obtained.

Hatchet Reporter Discovers What Unsightly Steel Hooks On Stockton Hall Are For

Science, or maybe it's physics, tells us that no motion is ever lost, and that matter can never be destroyed. That undoubtedly explains to professors the reason why those unsightly steel reinforcement bars protrude from the sides of Corcoran and Stockton Halls. But to the ordinary students, they're only bits of twisted metal to which, some day in the dim future, Unit 3 or possibly Unit 4 or Unit 5 will be joined.

Or, rather, that was the general impression until several days ago, when a stroll in the neighborhood of the Law School disclosed the fact that these reinforcements had been straightened, and flower boxes superimposed thereon by the persons residing next door.

All of which suggests that, as a means of beautifying Washington, all of those blatted iron pieces might be straightened out, and flower boxes placed thereon so that the sides of our buildings may blossom as the lilies or cherry blossoms, or something.

YEARBOOK SEEKS SUBSCRIPTIONS

Subscription Blanks For 1928 Cherry Tree Are Now On Campus

STAFF MEETS ON FRIDAY

Students Who Subscribe Now Will Have Names Printed in Gold On Cover

Subscription blanks for the 1928 Cherry Tree are now in circulation around the campus. Sorority girls and others are selling the subscriptions at the price of four dollars, with the stipulation that the subscriber's name will be printed on the front of the book in gold free of charge. The name will not be printed on the front, if the payment is made in two installments, one now and the other in June. The subscriber should be sure to receive a receipt for his payment, according to Catherine Groselove, who is in charge of the subscriptions. If he expects to receive his year book promptly this spring.

Photos Being Made

The photographer from the White Studios in New York has been on the campus the past week taking more pictures, and returning the students' proofs. The Kodak contest has been closed, but it is certain that any snaps especially good will be considered if turned in immediately. There will be more pictures and snapshots in the 1928 Cherry Tree than there have ever been in a George Washington year book before. This is, indeed, inducement enough to buy a Cherry Tree. Besides the enlargement of the photographic section there will be unusual features, unfolding much University scandal.

At the staff meeting to be held this Friday night, the remainder of the copy will be turned in to the Board of Editors. This meeting will be held in the Cherry Tree room in the basement of Stockton Hall at 7:30 sharp; it will be brief, but it is essential that every staff member be present.

"Cubic Classifications" Causes Gasps As Math Club Learns of Newton's Graphs

"Asymptotes" Also Astound Unsuspecting; Prof. Erwin, Head of Mathematics Department, Considers Mathematical Club as Almost Necessary to Students in All Fields

By ALBERT W. SMALL

Newton, to most students, is the man upon whose head the apple fell, proving that what goes up must come down. But the Mathematics Club now has a new and very different conception of our extraordinary predecessor. At least, the members now know Newton was a mathematician after the lecture delivered last Wednesday by Pasquale J. Federico, new teacher at George Washington, on "Newton's Classification of Cubics," although as yet they may still be puzzled as to what the rest of the lecture and the six-foot long equation on the blackboard really meant. While they sat there, pleased with the pretty pictures of graphs and what goes with them, they heard polysyllabic and high-sounding words fluently forthcoming—such as "asymptotes"—soothing the ear and interesting the senses.

Green members were not discouraged, for they knew that the Mathematics Club was formed for those who are interested in math, not necessarily those well advanced, and more than often proves material benefit for all who listen to its varied lectures.

Indeed, as Professor Erwin, head of the Math Department, said right after the lecture, "The Mathematics Club is necessary to students in almost all fields; mathematics is a great subject whether taken up as a study or as a hobby, and the Math Club is doing a

SALE OF CHERRY BLOOMS TO AID UNIVERSITY FUND

Nation-Wide Sale of Cherry Blossoms By Masonic Clubs On Geo. Washington's Birthday

SORORITY GIRLS TO SELL BLOSSOMS ON CAMPUS

Money Will Be Used To Establish Class of Foreign Service at G. W.

Under the auspices of the District of Columbia Advisory Board of Masonic Clubs a plan has been developed whereby funds for the proposed endowment of a Chair of Foreign Service at George Washington University will be raised through the sale of cherry blossoms throughout the United States on George Washington's birthday.

The blossoms which are similar to the "buddy poppies" of recent years will be sold for ten cents or any amount which the individual wishes to contribute. Seventy per cent of the amount so received will be entered to the credit of the local organization responsible for the sale as its contribution to the Endowment Fund.

At George Washington the distribution of the blossoms will be under the supervision of the George Washington University-Masonic Club. A committee of the club composed of George Spangler, chairman, and Kenneth Bruner, Thomas Lieurance and Charles and James Fleck will have immediate charge.

Sororities to Sell Blossoms

The blossoms will be sold by members of the sororities of the University under the direction of a committee of the Pan-hellenic Council of which Julia Denning is chairman. Sales will begin on Monday, February 20, and continue through Tuesday, February 21. The committee in charge expects to sell several thousand blossoms if the student body gives the drive the support that is anticipated.

Last year the distribution of blossoms extended to points as far distant as Maine, California, Louisiana and the Canal Zone. Eventually, it is hoped, every member of the Masonic fraternity will wear a blossom as a memorial to Washington on February 22, each year. As the plan broadens in its scope it is intended to establish the Chair of Foreign Service as soon as enough has been received to guarantee a sufficient return to support the Chair.

G. U. Only School at Present

The only school in the United States covering the training for all grades under Civil Service, in the United States Foreign Service is Georgetown University, conducted by a secretarial organization. It is believed, by those sponsoring the movement, that a school of Foreign Service should not be under sectarian influence.

The purpose of the Educational Foundation of the National League of Masonic Clubs is to establish a special course of instruction for students who wish to qualify to serve the United States at home or abroad as diplomatic or consular representatives of the United States, or as commercial representatives in foreign countries of private commercial interests in the United States.

Original manuscript for book, music, and lyrics for the 1928-29 Musical Comedy. It is planned to choose, before the end of this semester, the material for next year's show from the manuscripts submitted. Such material may be submitted to James H. Fleck, 1707 Massachusetts Avenue.

LITERARY PIECES IN COLONIAL WIG

Short Stories, Poems, Essays In Issue Appearing February 20

COVER IS BY BUCHALTER

Helen Dix Heads Literary Staff; Bradford Swope Is Business Manager

The Colonial Wig, the long heralded literary publication of George Washington University, made its first appearance on the campus on Monday, February 20.

With short stories, poems and essays, the Colonial Wig offers a variety of material appealing to all tastes. The contributors are: Gregory Ermold, Catherine E. Hayes, Betty Bowman, Merle M. Elsworth, G. R. Maurice Neufeld, Stanley Gerstin, E. Young Douglas, Helen Buchalter, Elizabeth Ford and Florence Merriam. Bound attractively in green, the appearance of the Wig, itself, should please the most particular. The cover design was made by Helen Buchalter.

Bement Faculty Adviser

The members of the literary staff are: Helen Dix, Editor-in-Chief, Merle Elsworth, Elizabeth Ford, Stanley Gerstin, George Roth and Wanda Webb, associate editors. Those of the business staff are Bradford Swope, business manager, Frieda Barsky, Louise Feinstein, Mary Green and William D. Thompson. Mr. Bement is faculty adviser.

The Colonial Wig, as a publication for the literary efforts of the students, fills a long felt need in the University. Although the literary publication is an old institution at most colleges and universities, the youth of the Colonial Wig has served as an impetus in itself, toward making it a George Washington product of which the school may well be proud.

The board is anxious to receive manuscripts from the student body. Poems, essays and stories may be submitted to any members of the board, or to Mr. Bement, faculty adviser.

Copies of the Colonial Wig, selling at twenty-five cents each, may be obtained from members of the board.

Liefur Magnusson Is Classroom Speaker

American Representative of International Labor Office in Geneva Describes Work

Liefur Magnusson, American representative of the International Labor Office, a unit established at Geneva by the Versailles Treaty, was the guest speaker Saturday at the regular session of Dr. Charles E. Hill's class in International Law.

Mr. Magnusson emphasized the fact that functional rather than political divisions were the rule of all units established in connection with the League of Nations, and then continued to outline the work of this international "social service club," as he characterized the Labor Office. The particular duties of the annual conference, the board of directors, and the secretariat proper were enumerated and explained by the speaker. Mr. Magnusson then gave the substance of some of the 26 draft conventions drawn up by the office, and explained how they go into effect.

PHILIPPINESE CLUB ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

Alberto S. Sunio, Columbian Senior, Selected as New President

New officers of the Philippines Club were elected last Saturday evening. Alberto S. Sunio, a senior in the Columbian College, was elected president; Juan Siller, vice president; Procopio Estrella, secretary, and Bernardo B. Gapuz, treasurer. These officers will hold office during the spring term.

At the last meeting, the club approved to give sometime in March in conjunction with other Filipino college clubs in Washington, a luncheon in honor of their advisers.

PANHELLENIC PROM PLANS BEING MADE

At the last meeting of the Panhellenic Council plans for the annual prom were discussed.

Kappa Delta was made chairman of the committee to make arrangements. Pi Beta Phi and Zeta Tau Alpha are members of the committee.

The prom will most probably be held earlier than usual this year if plans can be completed in time.

PRES. MARVIN TO BE INSTALLED AT EXERCISES TODAY

Annual Mid-Winter Convocation To Be Held At Memorial Continental Hall

RUSSELL, OF COLUMBIA, TO ADDRESS ASSEMBLY

D. A. Robertson, William F. Russell and H. F. Stone to Receive Honorary Degrees

The one hundred and eighth annual Mid-Winter Convocation will be held Wednesday, February 22, in the Memorial Continental Hall. At this convocation Dr. Cloyd Heck Marvin will be formally installed as President of the University. Dean William Fletcher Russell, of Columbia University, will give the convocation address.

Promptly at three o'clock the procession will enter the hall. The Reverend Joseph R. Sizoo, minister of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, will make the invocation, and John B. Lerner, LL. D., Chairman of the Board of Trustees, will address the assembly.

The installation of Cloyd Heck Marvin, Ph. D., LL. D., as President of the University, will take place immediately after Mr. Lerner's address.

William Fletcher Russell, Ph. D., dean of Teachers' College of Columbia University, will give the convocation address.

President Marvin will then address the graduating classes, and after his address the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws will be conferred upon David Allan Robertson, William Fletcher Russell and Harlan Elske Stone.

Degrees will be conferred upon the following:

BUCKNELL DEBATERS TO MEET G. W. CO-EDS

Team to Take Extended Tour in April to Cornell, Hunter and Penn State

George Washington women will hold their second debate of the season Friday, February 24, at 8 o'clock, in Stockton Hall, opposing Bucknell University in the negative of the resolution: That this house deprecates the use of armed force for the protection of American private investments in foreign countries except after a formal declaration of war.

Louise Feinstein, who showed good work in the first debate of the year, will captain the team, which is to consist also of Inez Howard, Emma McQuiggen and Helen Prentiss (Alternates).

Professor Gilbert Hall of the Law School is to preside, and the debate will be judged by local lawyers.

The team will make an extended tour in April to University of Maryland, Cornell University, Hunter College, Penn State and New York University, are also on the George Washington team's program.

Delegates To Attend Episcopal Conference

Mary Lewis Beard and Stephen M. Scott to Represent Local Episcopal Club

Mary Lewis Beard and Stephen M. Scott will represent the George Washington University Episcopal Club at the Tri-Diocesan Conference to be held here Friday, Saturday and Sunday, February 24, 25 and 26, under the auspices of the local club.

At the last meeting of the club, held at the home of Rolston Lyon, plans were discussed for the coming conference. Arrangements were made for entertaining the delegates from the other colleges and universities, and the question of financing the conference was brought up.

The next meeting of the club will be held Thursday, February 23, at 8 p. m., in the E. F. Building of the Government Hotel, Delaware Avenue and B Street N. E. All members, and other interested in the work of the club are requested to be present to take care of last minute details and arrangements.

DRAMATIC ASSOCIATION TO CONTINUE TRY-OUTS

Try-outs for the cast and production of "2x2-5" were very successful, the Board of Directors of the Dramatic Association announces, and the selection of the cast will be announced soon in the Hatchet. Due to the large number of aspirants for a place in the cast, part of the try-outs were delayed until Tuesday.

WELL DONE, PREXY!

The formal installation today of Cloyd Heck Marvin marks the sixth month of his service as President of George Washington. During this half-year the University has made notable progress, for which the Hand at the Helm should receive honor due.

A detailed account of our new President's achievements is not necessary here; they speak for themselves.

Suffice it to say that as educator and administrator he has proved his worth.

The Hatchet wishes President Marvin continued success in his administration, feeling assured that under his guidance the University will go forward to a constantly increasing usefulness.

2 x 2 = 5

Not so long ago we heard a professor say that there was no general interest in dramatics in the University. We hope he has heard about the number of people who turned out for try-outs last Thursday night for "Two Times Two Are Five." At ten minutes of twelve, so we have been told, all the girls had not been tried out, and no men had been called upon to show their qualifications for representing the University to the theater-going public of Washington. (Women, first? Who will now dare say that chivalry is dead?)

Such a large number of people indicates two things: First, that there is a general interest in the drama at George Washington, and second, that, with such a number to choose from, the play will be well done.

The one consideration which interests us is, how real is this interest in dramatics? Will it be sufficient to guarantee a large audience for the production, or is this interest merely an evidence of the desire of the students for just one more activity?

ON SCHEDULES

We were sitting in the Women's Building trying to get in one last look at our chemistry when we heard a voice in the hall. The voice belonged to a pretty co-ed and she was explaining to somebody's mother that she had an "abominable schedule."

"You see," she continued, "I have nothing to do from twelve o'clock until three. I hate to waste all that time."

"That is unfortunately arranged," said the sympathetic mother. "They arrange those things much better at private schools, don't they?"

Of course, we realize that the library leaves much to be desired and the upstairs study room is not a students' paradise, but we do believe that a person who "just hates to waste time" could find a place and a book which might be used with profit.

THE "WIG" IS WELCOME

The appearance of the long-heralded "Colonial Wig" completes the circle of publications at George Washington. The University now possesses a humorous publication, an annual, a newspaper and a literary magazine, of which it may well be proud. The first three of these publications have made themselves indispensable to undergraduates, and in one issue the "Wig," too, has won a place for itself. Literary magazines are not easy things to produce, and the staff and contributors of the "Wig" are to be congratulated on the restraint and clear charm of much of their verse and prose.

DUE to the fact that the first President of these United States was the namesake of this illustrious institution, and was also born on February 22, this date always offers excuse for much in the way of celebration at the University. It is understood that these affairs are quite different from G. W.'s usual social efforts, for which there is often no excuse whatever.

The dance to be given tonight in Corcoran Hall from 10 to 1 is decidedly of the type that needs no excuse, and is usually considered the best event of the year. It is given by the Interfraternity Council and all members of the faculty and student body are invited—gratis! This dance is usually a tea dance, but due to the formal installation of President Marvin on the afternoon of the 22nd, the dance is given at night this year.

Kappa Sigma held a very successful Valentine dance at its house on February 14.

Hylda Wrenn entertained at bridge on Saturday afternoon, February 18, in honor of Alma Miller, who will soon leave for her home in Detroit.

Kappa Alpha's dance held at the Lafayette Hotel on Friday, February 17, was well attended by K. A.'s, their "dates" and many representatives from other fraternities, and was unanimously declared a success.

Margaret McAllister, former G. W. student, gave a bridge party on February 21, at which many of the guests were from G. W.

Phi Sigma Kappa gave a good dance at the Indian Spring Country Club on February 20.

Gamma Beta Pi announces the promising of Jean MacGregor and Sally Osborne on Thursday, February 16.

Acacia Fraternity announces the formal pledging of Thomas Wagner, Charles Riddle, and Edgar Walker. Harold La Font, Joe Motyka, and Leslie Rapp were initiated into Acacia on February 15, at the chapter house.

Woodrow Wilson Senate of the Delta Theta Phi Law Fraternity will entertain with a formal dance at the Carlton Hotel Friday, February 24.

John Jay Chapter of the Phi Alpha Delta Legal Fraternity will hold its annual banquet at the University Club on Washington's Birthday. William Howard Taft Chapter of Georgetown University and alumni of both chapters have been invited to attend.

Wednesday, February 15, a luncheon was given in honor of the mothers of Pi Beta Phi, at the sorority rooms. Following the luncheon, a meeting was held at which a "Pi Phi Mothers' Club" was organized, with the following officers: Mrs. McKelvie, president; Mrs. Ward, vice-president; Mrs. Monk, treasurer; and Mrs. Sime, secretary.

Pi Beta Phi announces the formal pledging of Beryl Edmiston, Tillie McGraw, Maud Hudson, Dorothy Colburn, Mae Harris Clark, Jenny Turnbull, Janet Sheppard, Elaine Graham, Helen Mitchell, and Carolyn Jackson.

Theta Upsilon Omega announces the initiation of Steele McGrew and Meredith Bauman following a banquet at the Hamilton Hotel on February 16. The speakers of the evening were professor Elmer L. Kayser and Dr. C. W. Mitchell.

Sigma Chi held a closed dance at their chapter house on February 18.

Chi Sigma Gamma, chemical sorority of the George Washington University, opened rushing with a delightful tea last Sunday afternoon at the home of Mrs. David Graham Pfeiffer, who was assisted at the tea table by Mrs. Margaret Van Evers, honorary member of the sorority. The table was decorated attractively with a large red heart, lighted by small electric bulbs, and on it were the Greek letters of the sorority. The refreshments also suggested appropriately the spirit of St. Valentine. Many girls were present, including a large number of rushees, and the affair was very successful.

Alpha Chi Sigma was host at a smoker held in Stockton Hall Friday the 17th. The chapter and its guests were entertained with talks and with motion pictures, one showing the manufacture of paints and varnishes, and another, the production of dye-stuffs. These were excellent instruction as well as entertainment.

The social evening was continued with talks by Brothers Barnes and McBride of the professional chapter here in Washington.

Refreshments concluded the evening program.

Gamma Beta Pi announces the formal pledging of Merla Matthews, Margaret Solvig, and Mary Sproul.

Myrtle Crouch is spending the weekend at the University of Virginia.

Delta Pi Chapter of Sigma Nu Fraternity announces the formal initiation Sunday, February 19, of the following pledges: Warren Price, George Turner, Jr., Wallace H. Rhodes, and Paul W. Eckert, all of Washington.

Eight members were initiated by the Gate and Key Interfraternity Society at its meeting at the Sigma Phi Epsilon House last Wednesday evening. The new members are: Richard Battle, Theta Delta Chi, James Healy, Sigma Phi Epsilon; Charles Holt, Delta Tau Delta; Charles Maze, Sigma Nu; Lawrence Parker, Sigma Chi; Kenneth Popham, Kappa Sigma; George Spangler, Acacia; Joe Walstrom, Theta Upsilon Omega.

A dance will be held by Gate and Key at the Sigma Nu house, Friday, February 24.

Alethea Lawton, Florence B. French, Helen Martell and Virginia Wise have been pledged to Delta Zeta sorority.

Phi Mu held a pledge service for Adaline Heffelfinger, Margaret Mitchell, Catherine Palmer, Anna Laura Sanford, Amalie Walker and Eleanor Wilson.

Alpha Delta Pi was well represented at Annapolis at the Gymkhana last Saturday. The girls who went down for the event were: Helen Kerr, Ruth McArthur, Bernadine Horn, Mary Cecilia Horn, Peggy Rees and Clarice Senettier.

Harriet Ross entertained her Alpha Delta Pi sisters at a delightful bridge on Saturday, February 18.

Kappa Alpha announces the pledging of Edward Neil Anderson.

Edna Burroughs, who is a member of Sigma Kappa, has recently announced her engagement to Cyril Crilly. The customary ice cream party was given recently to the active chapter of the sorority. The wedding will take place in the fall.

Kappa Delta Sorority held second degree February 12 for Ruth Butler, Carol Fraser, Mildred Garrett, Nanie Maude Moore, Evelyn Nash, Catherine Weller and Effie Wade.

Five fraters of Eta Chapter of Omicron Alpha Tau, located on the Rutgers campus, were visitors at the O. A. T. house. While here they saw the Georgetown Rutgers basketball game and the Navy-Rutgers game at Annapolis. Samuel Greenblatt, of the Zeta Alumni Chapter, located at Syracuse University, was a week-end visitor at the O. A. T. chapter house. Eddie Berkowitz of the University of Alabama chapter and Jack Levine of the University of Valparaiso chapter were guests at the O. A. T. house the past week, as were Manny Nickman of Lambda, Julie Rosenberg of Epsilon, Sam Geller of Mu and Nep Lipshitz of Lambda.

Dr. Klauber of Xi chapter and professor at the University of Buffalo, was registered at the Mayflower over the week-end.

POTENTIAL PROFS

No. 12—Ruth Ellen Platt

Drawing rather than dolls appeals to Miss Ruth Ellen Platt, daughter of the instructor in Mechanical Engineering, for after all, someone else makes dolls, and one makes one's own drawings.

Then, too, one is allowed to draw at school, and in the first grade particularly, which Ruth, age 6, attends. And dolls are not generally included as part of the curriculum in our public schools. Moreover, Ruth takes a particular delight in her school, for her father designed its heating system. Of course, such things don't interest her much now, but it of utmost importance to the Brightwood School.

Ruth Ellen is a decided blond, and is somewhat larger than the photograph shown above, which was taken almost two years ago. "I would have had more pictures taken, but heavens, it doesn't take any skill just to click a lever and have the camera make the photograph. It's much nicer to draw."

But her father hopes that Ruth Ellen won't become interested in mechanical drawing "on the board," but that her talents will tend more towards something like commercial art, or even "art for art's sake."

G. W. Wins From Guilford College

COLONIALS DOWN GUILFORD TEAM IN CLOSE BATTLE

Guilford College "Terror Team" Falls Before Crum Quint By 29-22 Score

TARHEELS RETAIN LEAD FOR ENTIRE FIRST HALF

Game Played Last Saturday Is One of Fastest Staged Here This Season

The George Washington Colonials came to life in the second half to win a fast basketball game played against the Guilford "Terror Team" in the H Street Gymnasium last Saturday, February 18. The score was 29 to 22 at the final whistle.

Guilford sank some fine shots during the first-half to retain a lead throughout the entire period. While the visitors were dropping in long and short shots from all angles of the floor the Crummen were not making use of their scoring opportunities. It was not until the beginning of the second-half that the Colonials began to find the basket.

Allhouse Stars

The game as a whole was one of the fastest contests staged on the home floor this season. The work of Allhouse, who netted seven baskets for a total of 14 points, and the fine all-around playing of Gray, who played his first full game of the season in this engagement, furnished the high spots of the evening's contest.

Dave Allhouse, who had been warming the bench for the greater part of the season, opened with a pretty long shot from the far side of the floor. Haworth and Moore came through with baskets to give the visitors a four-point advantage. Guilford soon ran their total to eleven points, but Allhouse kept G. W. in the running by placing three more baskets to his team's credit.

Haworth ran wild for a moment and with the aid of Marshall and Griffin increased the Guilford lead to 19 points. Rangley counted for George Washington to give the Colonials ten points at the end of the half.

Allhouse again produced a double-decker to open the second half, which was followed by baskets scored by Griffin for the final Guilford score. Baskets by Allhouse, Goodson, and Gray were the result of a whirlwind spurt by the Crummen.

Carey Counts From Mid-Floor

The score at this point stood at 22 to 21 with Guilford fighting hard to retain their one-point lead. Carey, however, once again gave the G. W. five a one-point advantage by dropping in a beautiful shot from mid-court for his first contribution of the evening. Carey followed this with another pretty shot which was followed by a basket by Rangley and two foul shots by Goodson. The Colonials were still going strong at the close of the game.

Perry And Lopeman Out For Rest of Year

Allhouse, Barrows, Rangley, Gray Available as Replacements on Squad

Allen Perry and "Chalky" Lopeman, regular guards on the varsity five, will be missing from the lineup for the balance of the season. Coach Crum announced that he would be unable to use either of these stellar performers. The loss of Perry and Lopeman along with Sapp who was forced to leave school before the close of the first semester because of physical disability is a severe blow to the Colonial quintet, all three being among the finest players on the squad.

In Allhouse, who just started to round into top form about the middle of the season, Barrows, Rangley and Gray, who proved himself to be a first-class basketball player against Guilford last Saturday, Coach Crum has men who will be able to take up the burden where the ineligible men were forced to leave it.

STUDENT ACTIVITY CARDS

Coach Crum announced today that students would no longer be admitted to basketball games by presenting last semester's Student Activity Cards. Second semester cards will be required.

ST. BONAVENTURE BEATS COLONIALS

Rough Battle In H Street Gym Goes to Visitors By 43 to 23 Tally

SCORE 17 TO 14 AT HALF

Sullivan and McNally Run Wild to Pile Score in Second Half as Crummen Falter

The Colonials took a sound 43 to 23 drubbing at the hands of the St. Bonaventure five in the H Street Gymnasium on February 15. The game was a five-man exhibition of indoor football.

Cronin, McNally and Sullivan registered in rapid succession to give the Saints a seven-point lead before Goodson came through with a basket which was followed by one by Carey. Sullivan, McNally and Kennedy again counted to advance the visitors' score to 13 points against 4 for the Colonials. Sullivan followed Barrows' counter with a pretty shot to retain a ten-point lead. Two baskets by Barrows, single baskets by Allhouse, Goodson and Rangley with a foul shot by Rangley, however, grew out of a short flash to give G. W. a total of 14 points with St. Bonaventure leading with 17 points at the half.

Colonials Finish Strong

With the exception of a strong finish at the end of the game, the Colonials were "not in it" during the second half of the struggle. McNally, Riley, Sullivan and Kennedy increased their score to 39 points before George Washington even found out that they were playing basketball. Allhouse came through with two baskets to bring the Crummen's total to 19. Dougan added two more points to the already one-sided score, thus making a total of 43 points for the visitors. Carey and Allhouse succeeded in sliding in two points each before the whistle ended further agony on the part of George Washington and broken shins on the part of St. Bonaventure.

DRESSES ON SALE BOAST INTRICATE HANDWORK

Women students of the University were much intrigued by the peasant gowns on display and also sale, in the Women's Building, Tuesday and Thursday of last week.

These gowns were made by the needlewomen of Czechoslovakia and are being sold by Miss Elizabeth P. Bednar, in Philadelphia, New York, and Los Angeles.

Voile, crepe de chine, and georgette seemed to be the most popular materials, with here and there a jersey. Prices ranged from eighteen to sixty-five dollars.

TWO KILLED AT PURDUE

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (IP).—Two senior men at Purdue University were instantly killed here last week when the auto in which they were driving ran head-on into a bus, which they did not see because of a dense fog. The two girls with them were seriously injured.

MAUD CRUM WILL RENEW CONTRACT HERE NEXT FALL

Dr. Dan Borden, Chairman of Athletic Council Believes Agreement Is Certain

TO BE OFFERED NEW CONTRACT THIS FALL

Athletics at George Washington Have Shown Decided Improvement During Crum's Service as Coach

H. Watson "Maud" Crum, successful George Washington University football and basketball coach, will be offered a new contract at the expiration of his old contract this fall, it has been learned from Dr. Daniel L. Borden, chairman of the University Athletic Council.

"Coach Crum's contract does not expire until September 1, 1928, at which time we will offer him a new contract. The new contract will be for a period of one year only and will call for Mr. Crum's services as coach of football and basketball," stated Dr. Borden.

"It is true and only natural that Mr. Crum has received offers from other schools, and these offers have received Mr. Crum's careful consideration. But we have reached a verbal agreement which seems to be entirely satisfactory to everybody concerned. I am now certain in saying that Mr. Crum will sign a new contract next fall," said Dr. Borden in dispelling fears that Crum would not return to the University at the expiration of his old contract.

Athletics Improved

Athletics at George Washington University have shown a decided improvement since Coach Crum took over the job of coaching four years ago. Crum's efforts last year in particular, greatly handicapped by lack of material, when he produced a football team which was able to give battle to any college eleven in the country, were pleasing to all followers of the Buff and Blue.

With not more than fifteen or sixteen men available at any time during the season George Washington, under Crum, was defeated only twice last year, capping its success with a decisive victory over Fordham in the Central High School Stadium. The formidable Penn State eleven, which a week previous had defeated Penn, was able to win from the Colonials by the slender margin of 13 to 9 after a hard struggle. An unexpected defeat at the hands of the Catholic University on Thanksgiving Day was the only other defeat suffered by the Buff and Blue during the 1927 season.

Next fall the Colonials will attempt to repeat their 1927 success with a more ambitious schedule, in fact, the most difficult schedule in the school's history, engaging four major opponents in New York University, Penn State, Fordham, and Catholic University. Coach "Maud" Crum has been responsible for the Colonials' rise in football fame and no doubt will be instrumental in advancing their standard in the future.

COLONIALS MEET VIRGINIA DOCTORS

Games Scheduled For Tonight And Saturday Will Close Court Schedule

TO MEET AMERICAN U.

Quint Also Has Game With Catholic University to Be Played Next Week

Tomorrow night the Colonials will play host to Virginia Medical College basketball, and on Saturday night will entertain the American University five. Both games are scheduled to get under way at 8:30 as usual.

With these two contests, George Washington will wind up its schedule, there remaining, however, a postponed game with Catholic University to be played off. Beyond the agreement that it will take place some time next week, no definite date has been set for this game.

While very little is known of the Virginia Medical College five, it does not appear to be unusually strong. In their latest game, they lost to Emory and Henry, of North Carolina, by a score of 22 to 19, and Emory and Henry, in their turn, have lost to Roanoke, so theoretically G. W. should win, having conquered Roanoke.

Second Game With American U.

The American University team has been met before, George Washington losing. The Methodists do not seem to be as strong now as they were then,

Chalky Lopeman, Star Guard, Is Retired From Lineup Due To Bad Knee

Chalky Lopeman, star guard of the basketball quint, has been forced out of the line-up for the remainder of the season due to a bad knee. Lopeman, who was quarterback of the "Iron Men by Necessity," received the injury during the football season but continued playing and then started basketball.

The knee kept bothering him during the season until finally, after the Hampden-Sidney game, it became so painful that his doctor was forced to order him to retire.

"Chalky's" last game was a brilliant one. He led the team in scoring with four baskets, three from the center of the floor, and two fouls. His absence is the more keenly felt just now as the team already is hard hit by the loss of Sapp and Perry.

CUP FOR SNOW SCULPTOR

HANOVER, N. H. (IP).—An eighteen-inch silver cup is the prize offered the fraternity at Dartmouth which can display the best work of snow sculpture. The only stipulation is that the statue must be made of ice or snow.

Last year the contest was won by Sigma Nu, the statue being a girl on a pedestal with the arm raised above her head.

The contest this year ends on the day of the closing of the Dartmouth Winter Carnival, at which colleges and universities from all over the East and even from the Mid-West are competing in skiing, skating, and other winter sports.

however, having lost the services of Leon Schloss and Bruce Kessler, regulars, due to scholastic difficulties.

They have lost their last two contests with Loyola and St. Bonaventure. The latter has also beaten George Washington.

The two teams appear to be very evenly matched, and indications are that they will provide an interesting game for the spectators.

CO-ED SIX BEATS AMERICAN U. BY BRILLIANT PLAY

First Game of Women's Season Played On Home Floor Saturday, Feb. 18

INDIVIDUAL WORK OF G. W. TEAM IS GOOD

Center Work of George Washington Kept Ball Out of American U's Forward Field

George Washington women varsity basketballers came through for a 52 to 16 victory over the American University team on the home gymnasium floor Saturday evening, February 18, in the first game of the season.

In spite of a marked lack of team work on the George Washington side, by good individual floor work the home team kept the ball in their forward territory most of the time, never losing the lead gained in the first quarter. Crumley starred at forward, sinking 32 of the 52 points G. W. scored to win.

American Threatens in First

Play opened with a foul on American U., on which Crumley scored, following up at once for a goal. American U. then carried the ball to their forwards twice in quick succession, when Brandt sank two pretty shots. The play in the first quarter kept the score even until the last few minutes, during which G. W. scored to end the quarter with 10 points to their opponents' 6.

In the second quarter, Faunce was sent in to substitute for Folsom at guard. Lawton began the quarter with two baskets, quickly followed by another by Crumley. The ball continued to go straight down the floor to G. W.'s forwards, who piled up 13 points during the quarter.

One-Sided Fray Goes From

Play

PERRY AND RANGLEY DIVIDE SCORING HONORS

McCann Leads Attack For Virginia
Visitors, Who Also Play
Unevenly

Hampden-Sidney was snowed under in a one-sided game in the Colonial Gymnasium on February 13. The final score was 40 to 22.

While rather a sad exhibition of college basketball the Hampden-Sidney-George Washington fray proved to be interesting to the crowd of fans on the side lines in that every possible kind of playing was produced. The Colonials at times passed so wildly and erratically that they looked like a prep school five, then again their passing and goal tossing was accurate and of real caliber.

Allen Perry led the home boys with five baskets to his credit, while McCann was able to garner three baskets and an equal number of foul goals for a total of nine points.

Rangley Scores First

Rangley dropped in the first basket from the opening tap-off, which was followed by baskets by Perry and Carey. Rangley again put the ball through the net. With G. W. having a 12-point lead McCann came through with Hampden-Sidney's first basket, which he followed with a foul shot. Barrows made his presence felt by accounting for two additional points. Wootton counted for the visitors.

Baskets by Rangley, Goodson, Allhouse, and Motyka, who had replaced Goodson, and foul shots by Barrows and Allhouse for George Washington, interspersed by a foul by Smith and a basket by Stroder placed the score at 26 to 8 at the end of the half.

At the beginning of the second half the regulars were sent back into the game by Coach Crum. Ford opened the period with a pretty basket from the center of the floor. Rangley tossed a goal for one point and Perry added two more by sinking a pretty shot from the side.

Hampden-Sidney Retaliates

At this point Hampden-Sidney displayed a flash of speed which seemed to take the Colonials off their feet. Before the attack had subsided the visitors found themselves within 11 points of the lead, the score standing at 31 to 20.

The Crummen, not to be outdone, staged a speed exhibition of their own in which Carey, Perry, Barrows, and Allhouse followed each other in quick succession with four baskets and a foul to gain the final score of 40 points.

WILBUR BAKER TAKES SECOND AT RICHMOND

G. W. Miller Crowds Duke Star in Indoor Mile Run on Saturday

Wilbur Baker, George Washington mile-runner, placed second in the mile run at the fourth annual indoor games held in the Grays' Armory, Richmond, February 18, under the auspices of the South Atlantic Association and Richmond University.

Baker crowded Woodward, of Duke University, to the finish, but was unable to pass him due to the shortness of the track, which was fifteen laps to the mile with flat turns. Woodward's time was 4:45, which broke the record held by Elliott of the University of North Carolina, last year's South Atlantic champion in the mile run.

George Washington University was also represented by Pomeroy and Stevens in the mile run; Baker and Stevens in the 880-yard run, and Pomeroy in the two-mile run.

University of Virginia's large track squad won the meet with 20 points. University of Maryland and Duke University tied for second place with 10 points each. The following schools finished according to the rating indicated: University of Richmond, five points; Washington and Lee, five points; George Washington, three points; and North Carolina State College one point. University of North Carolina, William and Mary, and Wake-Forest failed to place except in some of the invitation relay races.

The Freshman team from William and Mary College won the freshman meet, scoring a total of 14 points.

ing the quarter to the 2 made by Brandt for American U.

The latter players began being wary of the powerful combination at center with Omwake and Turnbull, and attempted many times to pass over center territory, cutting out their centers, but found this totally unsuccessful. The half ended at 23 to 8.

Third Quarter

McGregor, substituting for Lawton in the third quarter, made a fine showing and got in some pretty passing to Crumley. G. W. scored 7 points before Fellows sank the only shot for American U. in the quarter. Zimmerman and Faunce, guarding for George Washington, made scoring too difficult for the opponents. The quarter ended at 40 to 10.

Maintaining G. W.'s ability to increase their lead, Crumley dropped the ball into the basket twice to begin the fourth quarter. Sprout, put in the place of Turnbull at side center, got in some speedy passing in the last few minutes of the game. Brandenburg was substituted for Zimmerman at guard. Fellows scored 6 points for American U., bringing the final score at the last whistle to 52 to 16 in favor of George Washington.

7,000 MILES TO STUDY FISH

SEATTLE, Wash. (IP).—Chance reading of a Norwegian newspaper article describing the college of fisheries at the University of Washington caused Berger Rasmussen to leave his home in the town of Bergen, on the west coast of Norway, and travel across the seven thousand miles of land and water that separated his home from the college at which he made up his mind to study.

In the fall of 1926 Berger decided to come here to study, but it was not until the fall of 1927 that long unwinding of the red tape necessary to leave Norway and enter the United States as a student was accomplished.

Rasmussen declares that because of its school of fisheries and also because of the large Norwegian population in Seattle, the University of Washington is the best known American educational institution in Norway.

G. W. MERMAIDS TO MEET SULLINS

Will Be First Intercollegiate
Swimming Meet For Women of George Washington

APRIL 21, AT Y. W. C. A.

Event Comes as Result of Enthusiastic Interest Shown in Swimming by Co-eds

The Women's Swimming Team of George Washington is scheduled to meet that of Sullins College on April 21, in the Y. W. C. A. pool at 14th and K Streets.

The events of the meet will probably be a sixty-yard dash free-style, sixty-yard breast stroke, sixty-yard backstroke, one hundred and twenty-yard free-style, a relay race and fancy diving.

Practices for the meet will be held Tuesday afternoons and Friday evenings. Positions on the team are still open and all women students are urged to compete for places.

First Meet

The meet with Sullins College is the first intercollegiate swimming meet that the women of George Washington have ever held. It comes as a result of the enthusiastic interest that has been shown in swimming.

This interest has also brought the swimming schedule up from a two-month period in the spring to an eight-month period. There is now instruction for beginning and advanced swimmers, and life-saving instruction is given.

Teams from New York University and Harrisonburg State Teachers' College have challenged the George Washington team, but they can not be met because of the size of the budget. Later in the year an interclass meet will be held. The Interclass Cup has been held for two years by the class of 1929.

Being Considered by Faculties of Various Schools

NEW YORK (by New Student Service).—Football having passed off the boards, curricular reform is again engaging student attention in several colleges. The undergraduate reformers have taken fair notice of the criticisms overflowing current periodicals, and have adopted a vigorous style in attacking their campus problems.

The University of Washington Daily, after publishing a series of student criticisms of the University, and its work, has summarized by blaming the faculty "for the lack of intellectual stimulus and study encouragement prevalent on the campus." The main draw-back it conceives as "the appalling over-emphasis on activities for activity's sake, that insistence on activities at Washington which results in the average collegian striving to be an activity hound from freshman days to the end of college." The faculty is blamed for having failed to eliminate superfluous activities, and the Daily presents the problems as one for the teachers to solve.

President C. D. Gray, of Bates College, has appointed a student committee of twelve to examine the curriculum and suggest modifications and changes. These students will carry on the work begun by a senior committee last year. Three other groups are working on the same problem, one composed of teachers, another of alumni, and a third, serving as advisory, of outsiders.

Students in the College for Women at Western Reserve University have selected representatives to serve as their agents in presenting to the faculty complaints against the curriculum. They are members of the student council, who will work in conjunction with a faculty committee, to whom they will make recommendations after passing on student complaints.

COLONIAL TRACK STARS ENTER SOUTH ATLANTICS

The George Washington University track squad will enter the Annual South Atlantic Indoor Games and Relay Carnival at the University of Virginia on February 25, 1928.

Manager Steve Blackman announced today that the track squad will be greatly enlarged for future meets. With Captain Floyd Pomeroy, Elliot, Baker and Popham to form a backbone of the outfit which is to be enlarged by the addition of a large number of promising freshmen the Colonial speedsters should be in a position to make themselves felt in any track meet in which they are entered.

G. W. FROSH SWAMP CRESCENT A. C. FIVE

David Leads With 19 Points in 47-8
Scoring Orgy at Gym

As a preliminary to the main event between George Washington and Hampden-Sidney the G. W. frosh took the Crescent A. C. basketball club over a rough path to the tune of 47 to 8 in a one-sided, but well played, game on February 13.

The A. C. boys, who number among their members several former G. W. varsity subs, were unable to penetrate the defense shown to them by the Yearling team. Two baskets during the first half was all that the visitors could gather from the floor.

David and Fraizer led the scoring, the former having 19 points to his credit, while the latter accounted for 11 points.

ANIMALS DO THINK

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (IP).—That animals solve their problems by intelligence rather than by trial and error, as heretofore believed, seems to be the result of experiments being carried on by Norman R. Maier, instructor in psychology at the University of Michigan.

His work tends to disprove the former theory advanced by Thorndyke. In his tests Maier uses nine white rats, three of which he has experimented with in Germany where he studied last year. To prove his contention that rats have insight, he has a definite "set up" which he uses.

It consists of a large cage with food which is set upon a table. The only way that the rats can reach the food is by a runway which leads from the floor to an open side of the cage.

Before the actual test is given, the rats are allowed to wander around the room in order to familiarize themselves with the situation by coming in contact with the various objects, as their sight is too poor to observe anything other than the brightest objects from a very short distance.

After learning the surroundings, the rats are allowed to travel up the runway three times. After this they are placed on the table in view of the food, which they attempt to obtain by the shortest route. When they discover that the cage prevents them from reaching it, they will proceed directly to the runway on which they practiced, and get to the food.

Each time Maier tries the experiment he varies either the room, the location of the runway, or the method of approach, so that no two tests are exactly alike and so that no doubt might arise whether previous learning might determine the rats' actions. Proper precautions also are taken so that the sense of smell does not guide the action of the rats.

Maier explains that the trouble with the popular method of trying to discover whether rats solve their problems by insight or by trial and error, is that in it the rats are given no opportunity to use insight. He compares the situation to that of a man taken to a strange city, shown a building, blindfolded and taken to another part of the city, and told to find the building. The man can find it only by running across it by trial and error. If he knows the proper relations of the city to the building, however, he can find it by using his insight.

Maier claims that the same holds true with rats, and that in his experiments, the rats have used insight throughout.

HARVARD SOCIAL CENTER

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—Straus Hall common room is to be made a social center for Harvard students living in the south end of Harvard Yard.

Two tutors will be present every evening between 7 and 8 o'clock for the purpose of conducting friendly informal discussions with the students on topics of general and academic interest. As in the freshman common rooms, coffee will be served and a log fire will be kept burning during the evening hours. Books and periodicals will also be placed in the room.

RIFLE MATCH IS IN FINAL STAGE

George Washington Co-Eds
Score 996 For Week, Breaking
Previous Records

MAKES TOTAL OF 2,972

Scores From Other Competing Teams
Not Yet Received: Helen
Taylor High

The Women's Rifle team of George Washington University, on Saturday, February 18, in the final stage of the International Rifle Team Championship Match broke all former records making a score of 996 for the week, bringing the total for the entire match up to 2972 out of a possible 3000.

The scores from the competing teams have not yet been received, but George Washington stands a good chance of capturing the championship of the United States.

High Scores Made

The five girls who have accumulated the greatest number of points during the period, compose the Championship Team. These winners are Helen Taylor, who scored 597, the highest score of the season; Arline Spencer, runner-up, with a total of 594; Helen Prentiss, totaling 593; Helen Humphreys with a score of 590, and Verna Parsons with 588.

The five next highest on the team, although not included in this team, did good shooting. Roberta Wright shot 588, Naomi Crumley and Marjorie Folsom scored 587, Betty Clark 596, and India Belle Corea totaled 573.

The last stage of the International Competition had much to do with raising the total score. The counts of this match were better than those of any previous one.

Two possible scores of 200 were shot, one by Betty Clark and the other by Helen Taylor. 199 was made by both Helen Prentiss and Arline Spencer. Gene Cuvillier and Marjorie Folsom scored 198; Verna Parsons 196, Roberta Wright 195, and Naomi Crumley 194.

Rifle Team Goes To Philadelphia Feb. 24

Matches With Pennsylvania And Drexel Institute Scheduled For Friday And Saturday

The George Washington University Rifle Team will travel to Philadelphia on Friday, February 24, on the most important trips of the Rifle Season. The George Washington Rifles will shoot a shoulder to shoulder match against the University of Pennsylvania on Friday, February 24, and another against Drexel Institute on Saturday, February 25.

After the Riflers have competed with Drexel Institute and the University of Pennsylvania they will participate in the Triangular Match, on March 31. Two other teams in this match will be the University of Maryland and Drexel Institute. The George Washington women will probably go to the University of Maryland to shoot.

JAPANESE DIPLOMA GIVEN

EUGENE, Ore. (IP).—For the first time in the history of the school, a University of Oregon diploma has been issued written entirely in Japanese. This queer looking document, which starts at the right side and reads upward and to the left, has been forwarded by Earl M. Pallett, registrar of the University of Oregon, to Masa Nori Yamashita, of Kagawakon, Managuma, Japan, a graduate of the class of January, 1928.

Yamashita is applying for a position and needs the document to go with his application. The certificate, which was translated and put on University stationery, was the work of H. Tauboi, a Japanese student from Portland.

In addition to the certification of graduation, the University included a recommendation of character by P. A. Parsons, of the school of sociology, under whom Yamashita studied. The document is signed by Dr. Arnold Bennett Hall, president of the University, and the registrar, Mr. Pallett.

STUDY-CLOCK IN MUSEUM

MADISON, Wis. (IP).—The famous Muir Study Clock has been partially reconstructed and placed in the State Historical Museum here.

Muir, who was a student at the University of Wisconsin from 1860 to 1864, constructed the machine from odds and ends and used it to regulate his study hours.

It is so constructed that a clock is set to allow a certain amount of time for the study of each course. When the time is up a large cog-wheel collapses, the book falls through to its regular position, and another is brought up to take its place. The process is repeated with each book, until all have been studied.

SCABBARD-BLADE TO CONVENE

COLUMBUS, Ohio (IP).—The 1928 convention of Scabbard and Blade, national military honorary fraternity, is to be held at Ohio State university on April 26, 27 and 28, 1928.

INCREASE IN LAW SCHOOL ENTRANTS

The George Washington University Law School reports an increase in the number of new students entering the school for the first time this year. For the year 1926-1927 the total of new students was 236, of which 169 were first-year. This year, 1927-1928, a total of 260 new students registered of which 216 were first-year. The number of day students of the Law School was likewise larger, 173 being reported last year as against 179 this year. Final figures on the total number of students registered in law this year were given as 746.

WOMEN TOSSERS TO PLAY WESTHAMPTON

Game to be Played Saturday, February 25, is Third Successive
Game With Visitors

The George Washington co-ed sextet will meet the Westhampton College team on the home court on Saturday, February 25, at 7.30 o'clock.

The basketball game with Westhampton College will be one of the most interesting matches of the season. This tilt will mark the third successive game between these two teams. Each team has one victory to its credit and the struggle this year will decide the leadership.

In 1926, George Washington defeated Westhampton in the George Washington gymnasium with the score of 26-24. Westhampton came back the following year, 1927, to down George Washington. The rival players secured the big end of a 26-17.

The George Washington squad has shown a decided improvement during the past season. The players, who overwhelmed the girls from American University on Saturday, February 18, by 52-16, will meet Westhampton College with an even chance of conquering it.

COLLEGE MOVIE DISLIKED

COLUMBUS, Ohio (IP).—Does the college boy or the college girl dislike the average college movie which portrays them as the original modern youth?

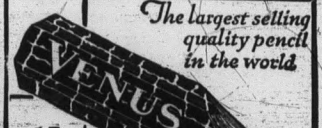

College editors throughout the country have been bawling the false light in which the college student is placed by the average moving picture portrayal of college life, but a survey of Columbus theaters in the vicinity of Ohio State University has revealed that no pictures attract so many undergraduates as those which are of college life.

Other tastes of the college students were revealed. They also like Western movies; they dislike triangle love affairs, and they won't stand for screen advertising. International News reels, or educational films.

It also was found that the students as a whole are a well behaved group in the movie theater. On occasions, it was found, some "country hick" thinks he can pull his home-town stuff, but he soon learns to the contrary and falls into line with the rest.

FRAT PLEDGES JAILED

LAWRENCE, Kans. (IP).—Thirty-one pledges at the University of Kansas were detained by police when they were engaged in carrying out the duties of fraternity Hell Week recently. The student council of the university filed a protest with the police department for the "arrests."

IMPERIALISTS WIN SPIRITED DEBATE

Columbian Debating Society Favors Present U. S. Policy Of Imperialism

GALLAGHER BREAKS TIE

Interior Law Club Debaters Able to Make House Vote Evenly on Question

By JAMES G. WINGO

Advocates of imperialism won the spirited debate last Friday night between the Columbian Debating Society and the Interior Law Club by a deciding vote of the presiding officer to break a tie. Both teams presented aggressive arguments, which divided the house evenly. President Gallagher, in breaking the tie, said that it was his unpleasant duty to decide the contest and the bad fortune of the house to have an imperialist as its presiding officer.

Captain W. S. Rumbaugh and William Williamson represented the Columbian Debating Society in the affirmative side of the question. "Resolved: That this house believes that the United States should continue its present policy of imperialism." The Interior Law Club, a debating society, which meets on Saturdays in one of the halls of the Interior Building and whose procedures are modeled to those of the United States Senate, was represented by B. Z. McLeroy and S. E. Morgan.

G. W. Man Opens Debate

Captain Rumbaugh opened the debate in truly military fashion. He argued that the Roman empire flourished under the military force of Rome. The Roman dependencies were safe under Roman laws, Roman privileges and Roman force.

"The present relation between the United States and her territories is mutually beneficial for them," said Captain Rumbaugh. "Canada realizes the advantages of being Great Britain's protectorate and that is why she cannot be induced to break her present relation with the mother country."

"Imperialism has made property and life secure in unstable countries. It has developed the natural resources of less advanced peoples. It has increased the material prosperity, has built more schools, has maintained better health conditions, and has improved modes of transportation. Imperialism is consistent with modern needs."

Assaults U. S. Policy

Mr. McLeroy followed Captain Rumbaugh. He assailed the "present dishonorable policy of the United States to keep in subjection weaker peoples."

"The material advancement of the United States must not be made at the price of honor," pleaded McLeroy. "Imperialism is not consistent with American principles. It is undemocratic and supported by only two per cent of the population of this country. This two per cent comprises of the Army, the Navy and 'Big Business.' Imperialism is opposed by labor masses and the educated poor. It is absolutely immoral and inconsistent with the principle in the Declaration of Independence that all men are created with equal political rights."

William Williamson, the second speaker for the affirmative side and a veteran of many international debates, upheld imperialism with his witty repartee.

Incapable of Self-Government

"We admit that the better classes of people in our territories are equally capable with us in arts and literature, but they are peculiarly incapable in maintaining self-government," declared Williamson.

"Imperialism is not a deliberate policy of the United States. Her territories were thrown upon our laps by the force of unavoidable circumstances. Recently through no fault of our own, we obtained a mortgage on Europe. Imperialism may be undemocratic, but certainly it is not undemocratic."

S. E. Morgan, the second speaker for the negative side, declared that it was unconstitutional for the President to send troops to foreign shores.

"These countries which are oppressed by our imperialistic policy are getting stronger daily in their efforts to boycott American goods," warned Morgan. "If we expect to obtain a good trade with them we must have clean hands. It is time to change our imperialistic policy."

Under Columbian rules the house was free to discuss the question after the principal speakers were through. Charles Laughlin and James G. Wingo spoke from the floor in favor of the present imperialistic policy, and a visiting member from the Interior Law Club assailed it.

The subject of the Columbian weekly debate on Friday, February 25, in Corcoran Hall, will be: "Resolved: That this House believes that suffrage should be extended to the people of the District of Columbia." James G. Wingo and G. M. Terry will maintain the affirmative side, while J. L. Lyons and Roy C. Carleton will uphold the negative.

MEETING OF MASONIC CLUB OF G. W. IS HELD

Report on Work of Distribution of Cherry Blossoms Committee Given By Chairman

The George Washington University Masonic Club held its February meeting at the Ivy Vine Restaurant following supper on February 13. The Club was addressed by Mr. John O. Bowen, Chairman of the Advisory Board of Masonic Clubs of the District of Columbia and Chairman of the Cherry Blossom Committee of the Board. He spoke of several phases of the work of distribution of the blossoms which are being sold by the Masonic Clubs throughout the United States to raise funds for the endowment of a Chair of Foreign Service at George Washington. George Spangler, Chairman of the Cherry Blossom Committee of the Club, reported as to the plans of the local club.

Following a general discussion of business matters, an election of officers for the spring term was held. Ivan C. Booher, former secretary of the club, was elected president to succeed Robert G. Dillaway. Kenneth H. Bruner was elected vice president; Norman H. Conner, secretary; James H. Fleck, treasurer, and Arthur H. Nordstrom, herald. Representatives of the various departments of the University to the Executive Council were chosen as follows: Law, Robert G. Dillaway; Engineering, James H. Platt; Columbian College, Audley L. Smith; Harold L. Schlitz was elected to membership in the club.

LANGUAGE IS CHANGING SAYS TOMPSON SETON

Telephone Has Modified Speech, Author Tells Journalism Class

Ernest Thompson Seton, author, naturalist and artist, was the speaker at a recent meeting of the Journalism class. He spoke on "Vital Language," in which he stated:

"I think our language is more in a state of flux today than at any other time in our history." In discussing the conflict between the academic and the vernacular, he found that the telephone, with its universal use and its requirements as to sounds, was "modifying our language as no other force has modified it." He emphasized the fact that "some words die on the telephone."

Representing the academic and the vernacular as two circles which overlapped, he stated that the area in which they were in contact was occupied by the journalist. He traced the origin of words through the four stages of slang, recognized as colloquial by the dictionary, popular use and finally good usage. "Thousands of words are manufactured every year," he declared.

"Those who try to fix language," said Mr. Seton, "have no idea that language is a living, growing thing. The classical influence has been killed by the steady encroachments of the genius of English. That genius is the peculiar, vital element which gives it force in certain directions. Progress in our language is marked in the large areas where it is unrestrained by literature. It is not in the keeping of educational circles, but of the common people. The boys on the plains of the West comprehend the genius of English. It is fatuous to offer to the people something that is not inspired by that genius."

Schoenfeld Verein Will Hear Talk On Germany

John George Bucher to Lecture on "Romantic Germany" Friday, in Corcoran Hall

The Schoenfeld Verein in connection with the German Department of the University will present John George Bucher in a lecture on Germany on Friday, February 24th, at 3:30 p. m. in Corcoran Hall. Mr. Bucher will talk on "Romantic Germany" and moving pictures of the Rhine with its many castles and of picturesque old cities will be shown. A number of very attractive slides will also be thrown on the screen.

As the lecture is to be in English, the student body and the general public are invited, and there will be no admission fee. Mr. Bucher was secured through the Bureau of Commercial Economics, an organization which promotes mutual understanding and international amity.

NEWMAN CLUB HOLDS VALENTINE PARTY

Marie Collins and Mary Miller Act as Hostesses at Burlington Hotel Gathering

The Newman Club held its third annual Valentine party Wednesday, February 15, at the Burlington Hotel. Dr. John Cartwright, Chaplain of the Club spoke, Tuesday, February 14, at the first meeting of the second semester.

The card party was the most successful affair of the year, and had a record turn out of thirty-five tables. Marie Collins and Mary Miller acted as hostesses, and Nash Knapp was chairman of the committee for the party.

At the meeting, Dr. John Cartwright gave the fourth in his series of lectures on the "Influence of the Catholic Church on Its Time." He described the influence of the church in architecture, sculpturing and music, showing in what form these influences have come down to us today. He outlined the two schools of thought within the church; the one led by St. Bernard opposing any decoration or ornamentation in cathedrals and churches, the other led by the Abbe Suger believing that by making more beautiful the places of worship, they were in turn serving God better.

Dr. Cartwright closed his talk with a brief description of the leading churches in Washington, showing the influence of the different schools on each.

The next meeting of the club will be held February 28. The speaker will be announced later. Any new Catholic students are especially invited to attend.

The pledges of Kappa Delta entertained the actives last Saturday night with a George Washington party.

HATCHET STAFF HEARS SPEECHES BY EDITORS

Policy of Board in Making Assignments and Promotions Explained at Staff Meeting

The Hatchet Staff heard the whole duty of a reporter described by members of the Board of Editors at the second staff meeting of the year, held Wednesday, February 15, at eight o'clock, in Corcoran Hall 29. R. Campbell Starr, Chairman of the Board, presided.

Reporters were told by Elizabeth Willbank to get their assignments without fail and then get the news and all the news. The present policy of the Board in making assignments was explained, and the hours when the Hatchet Office will be open to reporters after assignments given. Miss Willbank stressed the fact that a reporter may receive an assignment late in the week, and it is essential for him to come to the Hatchet Office until the assignment is made.

Pern Henniger, Men's Sport Editor, told sport reporters how to take notes during athletic events, and how to develop athletic copy. Frank Kreglow spoke of the duties of a business manager.

Sherman E. Johnson discussed "Gathering the News," and told members of the staff something of the ethical side of journalism. A reporter, he said, is a knight errant of sorts.

The form in which copy must be turned in was described by R. Campbell Starr in an address which closed the meeting. Copy, according to Mr. Starr, must be turned in typed, with a deep margin at the top of the page where headlines may be written, and paragraphs must be indicated by a line around the first word. The end of the story must be indicated by a "30" or another accepted symbol. Mr. Starr also explained the policy followed by the Board in making promotions, and stressed the point that advanced positions are ready for every member of the staff who proves himself capable of holding them.

ENTRANCE EXAMS DROPPED

HANOVER, N. H. (IP).—Announcement has been made by the President of Dartmouth College that beginning with 1928 there will be no more fall entrance examinations to the college. The action was taken, it was declared, because the average high school graduate is fully prepared for college entrance. If he is not he will be given the necessary deficiencies to work off while in college. Hereafter entrance to Dartmouth will be gained by certificate or the regular college board examinations.

Frank Gavin of the General Theological Seminary of New York City are to be the principal speakers at the Tri-Dioecesan Conference of Episcopal Clubs, to be held under the auspices of the Episcopal Club of George Washington University at St. Paul's Church, 917 Twenty-third Street N. W., on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, February 24, 25 and 26.

Two or more delegates will be present from each of fifteen colleges, universities and normal schools in the District of Columbia and Maryland, including George Washington University, American University, Wilson Normal School, University of Maryland, Johns Hopkins University, Hopkins Medical School, Goucher College, Hood College, the Maryland State College for Women, and several other institutions.

The representatives of the various units attending the conference will be entertained by the members of the G. W. Episcopal Club as their house guests over the week-end. Robert Moncure and Stephen M. Scott are on the hospitality committee, providing entertainment for the delegates.

Alice Cooke, Adeline Heffelfinger and Mary Lewis Beard are on the Finance Committee, providing the funds for the conference. Betty Wiltbank will be in charge of the waitresses who will serve the meals to the delegates.

Registration on Friday afternoon, February 24, officially opens the conference. This will be followed Friday night by a dinner at St. Paul's Parish House, at which the delegates will briefly outline the plan of work taken up by the units in their respective institutions. After dinner there will be a general meeting at which Bishop Freeman and Dr. Gavin will speak.

Saturday morning a short general session will be followed by three special group meetings—one for the men, one for the women, and one for the chaplains. After lunch the visitors will be shown around the University or taken sight-seeing by their hosts. A special trip to the Washington Cathedral has been arranged. Dinner will follow the final business meeting. After dinner there will be a short meeting at St. Paul's, conducted by Dr. Gavin.

Holy Communion will be celebrated at 7.30 a. m. Sunday morning. Breakfast at 8.30 will be followed by a fellowship meeting conducted by The Rev. Elmore McKee, who will preach the sermon at the eleven o'clock service in St. Paul's Church. This service will officially conclude the conference for 1928.

It is expected that the conference next year will be held in Baltimore, under the auspices of either the Johns Hopkins University unit, or the Goucher College unit.

Final details of the conference will be taken up at the next meeting of the Episcopal Club, to be held Thursday, February 23, at 8 p. m. at the E-F Building of the Government Hotels, Delaware Avenue and B Street N. E. All members of the club are urgently requested to be present, as this meeting will be the last before the opening of the conference.

MEN'S GLEE CLUB TO START CONCERT SERIES

Elmer Brown and Jerry Sickler Add to Many Pleasing Numbers of Repertoire

A series of concerts has started for the Men's Glee Club, lead by Mr. Robert Harmon. According to the critics the Club has surpassed its high standards set in the past few years.

Among the numbers scheduled range from "Edomus Te" by Palestrina, to "On Susannah," a negro folksong. Elmer Brown, the composer of the Music in "Sharps and Frats," has been booked by the Glee Club, along with Jerry Sickler, also a member of this year's Troubadours.

The quartet composed of Elmer Horn, James McLean, James Fleck and Robert Ferguson, have many offerings which are especially worth hearing.

The Tri-Dioecesan Conference (if you can pronounce it) the satisfaction of the worthies who participate in it is about to confer. We noticed a prize remark which got by the copyreader in The Hatchet last week, namely, that there were three classes in some division of the conference or other, namely Men, Women, and Ministers.

Penn. Henninger, the human copy-mill, has just come in to write his usual four galleys, and wants this type-writer, therefore, after having said nothing funny or worthwhile, we creep off to bed.

BALL IS PRECEDED BY MANY DINNER PARTIES

President and Mrs. Marvin Entertain Party at Ball at Mayflower

President and Mrs. Marvin were guests of Justice and Mrs. Harlan Elske Stone at a dinner party preceding the Ball given at the Mayflower Hotel last evening. President and Mrs. Marvin had as their guests for the Ball Ambassador and Senora deTellez, Justice and Mrs. Stone, Comm. John H. Cowles, Mrs. Mabel W. Willebrandt, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Evans, Commissioner and Mrs. Proctor Dougherty, Dean and Mrs. Wm. F. Russel, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Atwood, Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Thompson Seton and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ballou.

Mrs. Walter Tuckerman entertained a party of twenty-four preceding the Ball, and had as her guests of honor Madame Grovitch, guest of Mrs. Dimock, and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Cotton, and Mrs. Huntington, of Baltimore. The Brazilian Ambassador was her ranking guest for her box party among whom were also His Excellency, Mr. Austin, Minister to Finland; Senator and Mrs. Tyson and Mrs. Henry Dimock.

Mrs. Gilbert Grosvenor was hostess at dinner, the company including Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Wilbur, Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution and Mrs. Abbott, Dr. and Mrs. John C. Merriam, Colonel and Mrs. Harrison Dodge, Miss Julia Mattis, Mr. Wiltstack, Mr. and Mrs. Paxton Blair, of New York, and Mr. and Mrs. Melville Grosvenor. Later they occupied Mrs. Grosvenor's boxes at the ball.

The Governor of Hawaii and Mrs. Wallace R. Farrington were the guests in whose honor Mrs. Theodore W. Noyes entertained at dinner last evening before the ball. They were joined later by additional guests who occupied Mrs. Noyes' box in the ballroom.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Lerner had among their guests in their box Mrs. Lerner's mother, Mrs. E. S. Parker, Mr. and Mrs. A. Chambers Oliphant, Comm. and Mrs. Alexander Wetherston and Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Stott.

Mrs. James A. Lyon entertained a party of friends at her home in Rockville for a dinner party. The decoration scheme was carried out in the colors of red, white and blue. Her guests later occupied Mrs. Lyon's box at the Ball.

Mrs. H. K. Willard had among her guests for dinner and the ball Mr. and Mrs. Stokely Morgan, Mrs. Eleanor Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Willard, Miss Bennett, Miss Sarah Willard and Mr. Wm. B. Willard.

Slow Thinkers May Speed Up Thought

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)—If your thought processes are sluggish and you wish to speed them up, spend as much time as possible in association with a group in which quick mental activity prevails.

So says Charles Bird, assistant professor of psychology at the University of Minnesota. An experimentally larger benefit will be obtained by the slower subjects in a group in which quick mental action is predominant than by the quicker subjects in the same group, explains Professor Bird. This is due to the fact that the quicker subjects set the pace for the slower subjects, but increased quantity and decreased quality is the result, he added.

"While it is difficult to measure group behavior," says Professor Bird, "experiments have shown that the motor performances of individuals working in a group are more rapid than when working alone. Association in the group, involving the sight and sound of others working, is an incentive to additional activity."

Explaining an experiment which was made on 155 children divided into one control group and two sub-groups, and selected upon the basis of having equal initial ability to add columns of figures, the result obtained showed, said Professor Bird, that the sub-groups in which the stimulus of rivalry was a factor performed 41 per cent better than the control group in which rivalry was absent.

"Aside from the matter of rivalry," he said, "an individual expressing himself in a group tends to use more words and to convey fewer ideas than when engaged in conversation. Group thinking is on a lower level than individual thinking, because the group initiates the tendency to be expansive."

In the group the individual becomes less personal, added Professor Bird. The group takes the individual out of himself and makes him conform to group behavior. But on the whole, Bird believes, individual thinking is superior to group thinking.

G. W. SENDS DELEGATES TO PAN-HEL MEETING

Virginia Mitchell and Eugenia Cuvillier Go To Pittsburgh

Virginia Mitchell of Alpha Delta Theta and Eugenia Cuvillier of Kappa Delta will represent George Washington at the Pan-Hellenic Conference in Pittsburgh, March 15 and 16.

All urban universities having sororities that are members of the National Pan-Hellenic will be represented by one or two delegates. The conference will discuss all problems peculiar to universities in large cities. Regulation of rushing and rotation of officers will be the chief questions.

Local conferences will be held before the national meeting, and the conference will end with a banquet on March 16.

Virginia Mitchell is the present secretary of the Pan-Hellenic Council at George Washington, and has been elected president for next year.

DR. C. E. RESSER TO CONDUCT TRIP THROUGH VALLEY

Geology Professor Announces Two-Day Tour of Shenandoah Valley

TO LEAVE WASHINGTON ON SATURDAY, APRIL 21

Party Will Be Limited to Twenty-eight Students; Tour Historically Interesting

By MAUDE I. O'FLAHERTY

Dr. Charles E. Resser, associate professor of geology in the University, has announced a two-day tour of the Shenandoah Valley for April 21 and 22. The tour will be of special interest to students of geology and geography.

The tour leaves Washington Saturday morning, April 21, by the Key Bridge across the Potomac River at the point where the bluffs of the hard, old Piedmont rocks stand above the soft, young, flat-lying beds of the Atlantic Coastal Plain, and continues across this geologically old region of rounded hills and valleys to the Blue Ridge Mountains, passing many places of great historic interest.

To Visit Caverns

After crossing the wall of the Blue Ridge, the road drops down into the historic and picturesque Shenandoah Valley, where one of the beautiful caves cut into the limestone will be visited. Within the valley, numerous mountain ridges of interesting structure rise from its floor. The origin and structure of Massanutten Mountain, a beautiful example of these valley ridges, will be crossed and studied. The night will be spent in Harrisonburg.

On the second day the route leads northward down the valley, past other points of great geographic and historic interest, across the Potomac River to the Antietam Battlefield thence across the double Blue Ridge through the Middletown Valley and Frederick to Washington.

All along the way the conductor, who is well acquainted with the geography and natural history of the region will describe the geology and geography and point out some of the historical settings based on the geography of the land. Attention will be called to the particular use made of each region. These descriptions, which are understandable by all, add very greatly to the interest of travel and are the distinctive features of these tours.

Membership in the party on this tour is limited to twenty-eight and it is therefore necessary to register promptly. Students interested in making the trip should get in touch with Dr. Resser at once.

QUESTION LISTED FOR DEBATE AT Y. W. C. A.

"Would You Live in a Town Without a Church?" Discussion Topic

"Would you live in a town or city without a church? Why?" is the question to be discussed at the Friday noon meeting of the Y. W. C. A. The meeting will be held on the second floor of the Women's building, and will be directed by Helen Robb.

Elections for next year will take place next Friday at the same hour. The Nomination Committee consists of the Senior members of the Cabinet, who are Helen Dix, Helen Robb, Louise Omwake, and Margaret Maize. This committee suggests to the membership one or two girls whom they recommend to carry on the work of the association for the coming year. Nominations will be received from the floor if the members so desire.

At a cabinet meeting last Monday in the Y. W. room Miss Gladys Taylor of the National Association, and members of the Advisory Council made suggestions for the work of the association. Those present from the Advisory Council were Mrs. Robert Griggs and Mrs. Howard Hodgkins. Mrs. Harry Hull, chairman, was ill and was unable to be present.

PARTY GIVEN FOR NEW HISTORY CLUB MEMBERS

The February meeting of the History Club was held last Tuesday evening. Following a short business meeting in Corcoran Hall, at which plans were discussed for marking books given to the Swisher Alcove in the Library, the members adjourned to the Women's Building where a party was tendered the new members of the club. About twenty-five couples were present.

BETTY JO HOPKINS TO DIRECT SENIOR WEEK

At a meeting of presidents of all the senior classes in the various colleges of George Washington, Betty Jo Hopkins, president of the seniors in the School of Education, was chosen to take charge of plans for Senior Week.

This meeting was held in the Law School on Thursday evening, February 16. Arrangements for the program of the graduating classes were discussed, together with plans for Senior Week.

WOULD GIVE ROADSTERS

OBERLIN, Ohio (AP).—Sport roadsters as a substitute for Phi Beta Kappa keys as scholarship awards were suggested by Professor John Wolfenden, of Oxford, England, for five months a professor of chemistry here. He declared that not enough incentive is given to students in this country to strive for scholastic honors.

TEXT PUBLISHED BY DEAN G. N. HENNING

Anatole France's "Abeille et Autres Contes," Edited by Dean, is off Press

"Abeille et Autres Contes," by Anatole France, a book with notes, exercises and vocabulary by Dean George N. Henning, has been recently published by the D. C. Heath & Co. press.

This latest literary venture of Dean Henning is intended for less advanced classes than his other edition of portions of Anatole France's works, entitled "Representative Stories by Anatole France." To this end, thirty pages of notes, twenty-five pages of grammatical exercises, and a very full vocabulary of fifty-five pages are included in addition to the text.

These two books by Dean Henning do not contain the same stories, with the single exception of "Abeille," one of France's most charming stories of childhood and fairyland. Among the other narratives included in the new text are, "Les Blattes," "La Caution," "L'Aube," "La Fee," "Histoire des Trois Chevaliers d'Eppees."

Four sections of "Les Contes de Maman" are included. They are "L'Ecole," "Marie," "Les Fautes de Grande," and "Jacqueline et Miraut." "Jessey" and "Les Pains Noirs," concluding the text. Dean Henning will also have a review of H. L. Stewart's "Anatole France, the Parisian," in the March or April number of "Modern Language Notes."

A group of Quakers with Mrs. William Hill and Mrs. H. C. Macatee in charge included Miss Sullivan, Miss Branson, Miss Olmsted, Miss Lambertson, Miss Finkenstaedt, Mr. Prentiss and Mr. Chambers. Mr. Will C. Barnes appeared as Benjamin Franklin, and others in the group included Mrs. Barnes, Mrs. Frances Walker and Miss Mollie Goggeshall.

French Group

The French group, headed by the Marquis de La Fayette, comprised Prof. Richard Fourchy and Mrs. Fourchy, Prof. Norris I. Crandall, Mrs. Leonard Stejneger, Mrs. Richard Fay Jackson, Mr. R. W. Hodges, Miss Carolyn Fay Jackson and Mr. Keith Schwinley. Planters arriving by boat from the Southland organized by Mrs. J. Lawn Thompson included a large group with Mrs. W. J. Chewning, Mrs. S. J. Henry, Miss Jessica Smith, Mrs. Willoughby Chesley, Miss Nona Thompson, Miss Betty Ridsdale, Mrs. Frances Saul, Mr. Brent Clark, Jr., Mrs. Charles Thompson, Mr. Francis Simpson, Mr. I. L. Thompson, Jr., and Mr. Shepherd Taylor.

The program also contained a list of the patrons and patronesses, box-holders, floor committee, honorary student committee, list of the Ball Committee, a synopsis of the pageant and a list of the characters taking part in same.

For several years the Board of Lady Managers have planned an entertainment for the anniversary of George Washington and also as a part of the commencement program of the University. Three years ago the benefit took the form of a Colonial ball given in the gymnasium. The following year the event was known as "An Evening of Music at Mt. Vernon." Last year the entertainment was "A Birthday Party at Mount Vernon in Honor of General Washington, given by his Scotch friends at Alexandria and Dumfries."

The officers of the board are: President, Mrs. Frederick W. True; first vice president, Mrs. Grosvenor; recording secretary, Mrs. William J. Mallory; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Otis D. Swett; and treasurer, Mrs. Samuel E. Lewis.

Gentlemen:

I am a veteran of the Edgeworth army, still in active service.

I make this claim, challenging all comers, to have smoked Edgeworth and nothing else but Edgeworth (when it was possible to get it) for a longer period than any other person within the scope of my territory.

I have smoked Edgeworth for twenty-one years and will soon start on the twenty-second.

I'll admit to having tried other brands, including so-called high-class, high-priced blends and mixtures, enough to appreciate and satisfy myself of the superiority of Edgeworth. In all these years I have never had one can of Edgeworth that varied in flavor or otherwise.

Yours very truly,
